

Create Pull Request in repositories

Here is a example of contributing Finmars repositories

1. Create fork

2. Clone this fork

Example:

```
git clone https://github.com/<your-account>/<repo>.git cd <repo>
```

3. Create new branch

Example:

```
git checkout -b <feat>
```

4. Make changes

5. Fix change

Example:

```
git add .
git commit -m "<commit message>"
```

6. Push changes

Example:

```
git push --set-upstream origin <feat>
```

7. Create Pull request

1. Checkout to <feat> branch in github.com

The screenshot shows the GitHub repository page for `finmars-core`. The repository is public and forked from `finmars-platform/finmars-core`. The `main` branch is currently selected. A dropdown menu titled "Switch branches/tags" is open, showing a list of branches: `main` (selected), `test-contribute` (highlighted with a red circle), `finmars-misc`, and `form#78`. The `test-contribute` branch is the target for checkout.

2. Open Pull Request

The screenshot shows the GitHub repository page for `finmars-core` with the `test-contribute` branch selected. A message indicates that this branch is 1 commit ahead of `finmars-platform/finmars-core:main`. The `Contribute` button is highlighted with a red circle. A tooltip is visible, stating: "This branch is 1 commit ahead of finmars-platform/finmars-core:main. Open a pull request to contribute your changes upstream." The `Open pull request` button is also highlighted with a red circle.

3. Check source branch is base repository and main branch and create pull request
